Welcome to our 2018 Private Selection Catalogue

Due to family health commitments this spring, we will not be holding an On-Property sale. Instead we will be offering a private selection of our young rams. The rams photographed are some of the selected sires available with a good selection of all grades catered for. Please contact Drew on 0428 823 533 to arrange an inspection of these rams or we can select and deliver rams for you if required. We will offer a rebate to all agents.

West Plains genetic influence continues to grow with over 50 Poll Merino studs Australia wide and internationally using our semen sires, stud rams and breeding ewes. Leading stud sire West Plains Mercenary's impact across flocks has seen him selected as one of two Industry Link Sires for the Lifetime Ewe Productivity Trial. Mercenary's offspring have grossed in excess of $300,000 across Australia and overseas.

Our breeding aims are based on producing sires that improve commercial flocks bottom lines - more dollars per head. We use actual raw data: FW, micron, yield, style, BW, EMA and FAT. These are the traits we select for as this is what you, the customer, are actually paid on.

We select for large, structurally correct sires with long, deep bodies that result in more saleable meat which give greater returns. Our ewe base is also selected for length, width and depth to produce offspring that meet the needs of restockers.

In our wool types we prioritise length of staple and highly nourished wools that protect the fibre from rainfall and dust. We place emphasis on handle, whiteness and style. These wools consistently micron well and yield favourably.

Our ewe base are expected to thrive on grassland pastures and reproduce at a high rate. Our breeding strategies are to single mate all stud ewes to sires that complement them and to produce progeny which are predictable in type. ET programs are used to accelerate genetic progress. Our absolute highest performing ewes are mated to top industry sires to multiply rapidly the number of progeny from these outstanding females.

At all times, we are available to help with your breeding programs and classing support if required. We trust you enjoy your day and value your continued support. We wish you all the best in your purchases.

Congratulations to the Sprigg family, East Strathglen, Tambellup WA on the sale of a West Plains Mercenary ET son for a new on-property record price of $23,000.

We have been using Hinesville/West Plains genetics in our East Strathglen studs for over 10 years now and are extremely pleased with the results. Their pure wool quality will handle all rainfall with white long stapled, nourished wool and all this while not losing any wool cut. They have very correct bodies with good bone and great feet with fantastic confirmation. We have had a great relationship with Drew and Laura for many years now and look forward to many more in the future.'

- Roland & Rohan Sprigg

At West Plains they are true heavy cutting merino ewes that comb really well with white wools that are soft with near perfect fibre alignment, making them very water tolerant wools. Their extra crimp allows the wools to comb easier and there was no water staining or discoloured wools throughout the flock. They have soft supple skins that are productive but pliable. This paired with extra barrel in the body makes sheep easier to shear.'
